MASTER'S

PH.D.

ANTICIPATED DATE OF GRADUATION _____

- Students must complete a minimum of 24 credits in approved courses. Among these, 12 credits must come from a series of required core courses: one course (4 credits) in Theories and Histories of New Media (this is known as the core Common Seminar required of all NMCC students); one course (4 credits) from the list of Methods courses; and one course (4 credits) from the list of Topics courses. The remaining 12 credits are devoted to Electives.
- You may apply to the Certificate program at any time, even prior to beginning NMCC coursework. Please note that a maximum of 8 credits taken prior to acceptance into the Certificate program may count toward NMCC requirements (this can be petitioned in certain circumstances). Note also that the Graduate School requires that students be accepted and enrolled in the NMCC by week 5 of the term in which the student officially joins the program
- With permission of the program director, other relevant courses may be substituted for preapproved courses as they are developed or are considered germane to an individual student's program in new media and culture. Also note that students may petition to have non-new media courses count toward the Electives requirement if the majority of the student's research in the course involves the production of new media content (websites, databases, blogs, digital arts, creation of digital tools, etc.)
- At least 8 of the 24 credits must be taken outside of the student's home department or program.
